Dear Mr. Munro:

[redacted] has told me of your well-prepared and superbly delivered presentation to our new trainees on 28 February 1985. The students' response, as you discovered, was one of great interest and what must have seemed endless questions. Your candor, professionalism and ability to relate so well to such a large and diverse group is truly exceptional. Thank you for a job well done.

I would add that your presentation and later lengthy discussions with our new trainees skillfully illustrated the critical importance of greater familiarity between our trainees and State's concerns and interests. The fortunate alchemy of a knowledgeable and gifted speaker involved with interested listeners can but further our organizations' goals.

Your schedule permitting, please consider that you have a standing invitation to speak to future classes. Again, my deep thanks for an excellent job.
